Thankfully, my partner was a rock. They, they were a big help. But the biggest problem we had is I feel in Ottawa or in general, I feel like the amount of people who need rentals and the supply of rentals are very different. Being neuro and us being in Ottawa and us not having or in St. John's looking in Ottawa and not having feet in the ground was rough.

We'd ask for, like, video tours, all of that. And we applied for a few things, but we don't have the like, I'm a grad student. My partner would have to look for a job. So we didn't get accepted for, like, 2 or 3 places. So thankfully, we found something.

It's a little far. Commute's a little long for me, but I have my car if the weather's bad, we have all of that. But, the process was hard, I would say. Like, finding a place that checked all of our boxes, my partners and myself, and that we could compete for, for lack of a better word. So, thankfully, we found a basement suite. It's quiet. It's well lit.

That is to say we have a lot of natural light, like, right now. We don't have to use the big overhead lights, all that stuff. Or limit the big overhead lights. We have dishwasher, in-suite laundry. We can walk our dog. We had like, it's a good quiet neighborhood. Like, it's not like I'm downtown. I'm kind of in the suburbs. So that helps a lot.
